Look at what we’re doing! Franco and Lisa Chinsky are assisting Shane with a word search. Lisa is assisting Shane with a word search. As we enter the gathering space we see two groups of children working on a project. Whether it is the summer program where readers come to the Art House during their lunch break for one week, or the after-school program where readers come one afternoon per week for a session or a school year, the results are clear. The inter-generational experience is rich for both the children and their “reading buddies.”
